School Levy and $600,000 Sewage Plant Bonds Approved

ROBINSON RE-ELECTED MAYOR

Recreation And Sewage Taxes Fail

School Measure Carries All But One City Precinct

Marion's four-mill school levy was passed by a large majority yesterday, carrying every ward in the city as well as Marion Township

Also approved was the $600,000 sewage plant bond issue.

Marion voters turned down a three-quarter mill levy for operating expenses of the sewage disposal plant and a half-mill levy for recreational purposes.

A 2,603 margin was piled up in favor of the school levy as it was approved in every precinct of the city with the exception of Precinct 2-D where it lost by one vote 89-88. Needing but a simple majority it received a 66 per cent favorable vote. The additional four mill levy is to run four years.

Bond Issue

The sewage plant bond issue received a majority of votes in all but two precincts. It was defeated 141-140 in 3-B and 104 to 102 in 4-B. Money from the bonds will be used in rebuilding the city's sewage disposal plant. The issue needed a 55 percent favorable vote and received 63 percent.

A three-quarter mill levy proposed to furnish money for operating expenses at the new plant failed to carry. The levy was approved by an 822-vote margin but needed a 60 percent majority to pass and received but a 55 percent majority.

The recreational tax was defeated outright by a vote of 3,835 for and 3,530 against. The levy was approved only in the Fifth and Sixth Wards while being defeated heavily in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Wards. It needed a 60 percent favorable vote and received but 40 percent.

Counterattack Retakes Hill Lost To Reds

U. S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 7—(AP)—Allied troops attacking through the mud today recaptured one of three hills lost to Chinese assaults since Sunday.

The Reds did not put up much of a fight to keep the peak northwest of Yonchon. Two battalians of Chinese had overrun it Tuesday.

The Reds drove United Nations infantrymen out of advanced positions northwest of Korangpo, near the 38th Parallel on the western front. The Allies promptly counterattacked and ran the Reds back to their own lines.

Elsewhere along the western

Carey and Mills Win in County School Board Race

Edwin Carey of near Green Camp led in the race for two seats on the Marion County School Board in Tuesday's election.

He polled 1,344 votes to lead the other three candidates. O. M. Mills of Caledonia was second with 1,232. Finishing third was Emmet L. Trout of near Marion with 1,142 whole fourth with 1,140 was Donald Hickman of Prospect.

With two members to be elected Mr. Carey and Mr. Mills were elected to the seats.

Republicans Elected To 4 House Seats

Democrats Win City Administration In Philadelphia

By The Associated Press

Republicans captured all four special elections to fill vacancies in the House of Representatives, giving them a gain of one seat in that body.

Democrats held onto the only two governorships at stake, in Kentucky and Mississippi, without opposition in Mississippi.

Philadelphia—Republicans lost the city administration for the first time in 68 years, as Democrat Joseph S. Clark Jr., was elected mayor over Dr. Daniel A. Poling, prominent Baptist minister and Republican.

New York City—Rudolph Halley, counsel for the old Senate crime committee and as such familiar to millions of TV watchers, was elected city council president. He ran on the Independent-Liberal-Fusion tickets, won the city's second highest office by a plurality of 163,000 votes.

Ohio—The GOP picked up its House seat in a special election in the Third District, which went Democratic in 1948 and 1950. Paul F. Schenck, Republican, defeated Jesse Yoder, Democrat.

Pennsylvania—Republicans held onto two House seats they have held in recent years. Elected were Joseph Carrigg, in the 14th district, and Karl C. King, without opposition in the 8th.

New Jersey—Frank C. Osmers Jr., retained for the GOP the 9th district House seat.

Kentucky — Gov. Lawrence Wetherby's Democratic administration, including eight state officials, apparently was assured continued control of the state House.

Mississippi—Voters elected former Gov. Hugh White, who had no Republican or Independent opposition, along with his slate of States Rights Democrats.

Boston—Former Mayor James M. Curley, one of the nation's last big city political bosses, was beaten for mayor by the incumbent, John B. Hynes. Both are Democrats; Boston elections are non-partisan.

Indianapolis—The GOP took the mayoralty in the home town of the new Democratic national chairman, Frank E. McKinney. The winner was Alex M. Clark.

Little Rock—Ending Democratic rule for the past 55 years, voters elected as mayor Republican Pratt Remmel.

Congressional Victory Hailed By Republicans

COLUMBUS, Nov. 7—Republicans claimed today their victory on Ohio's third congressional district points towards further successes in the 1952 presidential election year voting.

Paul F. Schenck, Dayton Republican, easily defeated his fellow townsman, Democrat Jesse Yoder, for the vacant seat in the Montgomery-Butler-Preble County district. It was one of four congressional contests in the nation that saw voting yesterday on mostly local issues.

Incomplete unofficial returns on the only statewide question showed voters favoring a change in the Ohio constitution to allow counties more than one probate judge. Voters defeated the same proposal in 1948.

Foul weather cut voting below the generally light estimates, but hot contests for mayor, city coun-

County Voters Approve All Special Issues

Includes $295,000 School Bond Issue At Green Camp

A $295,000 school bond issue in Green Camp School District and school tax levies in five other school districts were approved as County voters in yesterday's election approved all special issues.

The Green Camp bond issue passed by a vote of 279 to 75. The money will be used for construction of a new elementary school building with a gymnasium and auditorium, and for furnishing playground equipment and purchasing necessary property. A 55 per cent majority was required to pass the issue.

Morral School District voters balloted 120 to 22 to pass a renewal of a 3-mill levy and a 1-mill increase for operating expenses of the school district.

Other school levies passed include: New Bloomington, 5-mill renewal and 4-mill additional levy, 127 to 41; LaRue, 2-mill additional levy, 305 to 102; Caledonia, 5-mill renewal, 253 to 67; and Grand Prairie, 4-mill additional levy, 90 to 61.

All five levies required simple majority to carry.

Grand Prairie Township voted dry on two wet-dry local option issues, one concerning the sale of liquor and the other concerning the sale of beer within the township. Both needed a simple majority to carry.

The vote was 105 to 21 for prohibiting sale of liquor, and 103 to 22 for prohibiting the sale of beer.

A LaRue Village tax levy for operating expenses passed by a vote of 127 to 74.

MAN KILLED AT LIMA

LIMA, O., Nov. 7 — (AP)—Frank Seitz, 77, was injured fatally last night when struck by an auto as he crossed the street during a sleet and snow storm. The death was the 24th traffic fatality in Allen County this year.

Freighter Stricken In Pacific; Jap Ship Picks Up 7

SEATTLE, Nov. 7 — (AP)—Driven to their lifeboats by a raging fire and explosion that killed three men, 27 seamen awaited rescue today in rough Pacific Ocean waters while their ship burned fiercely from bow to stern.

Seven of their number had been rescued by a Japanese merchant ship. It was attempting the difficult task of bringing aboard the remainder of the fire-seared, cold-chilled crew.

Four other vessels were speeding toward the scene, 390 miles west of the Washington coast where the American freighter George Walton was slowly succumbing in a funeral pyre fed by 9,500 tons of grain.

Storm Hinders Rescue

But, 13th District Coast Guard officials at Seattle said, rescue of the remainder would not be easy at the stormy disaster scene. And,

New Peace Bid To Russia Is Awaited

PARIS, Nov. 7—(AP)—France, Britain and the United States are expected to reveal tonight important new proposals for easing the tension between the Communist East and the West.

The Big Three plans, believed to contain provisions for a count of the world's atomic weapons, are scheduled to be disclosed at midnight.

The proposals will, when they are presented, be the major event so far of the Sixth General Assembly of the United Nations, which opened yesterday with a call from France's president Vincent Auriol for a Truman-Churchill-Stalin meeting during the U. N. sessions here.

Announcement of the Big Three "Peace" program, originally set for last night, was postponed presumably so it would more closely precede President Truman's broadcast tonight to the American nation.

The Big Three plan is likely to be patterned closely on the general terms of the President's foreign policy pronouncement.

There has been speculation for days on what the Big Three will offer. Reliable sources say the atom bomb count — a sweeping concession by the United States, which until now has objected to such a census—would certainly be the key point.

It is believed to include, also, a call for the Russians to bring about peace in Korea, completion of an Austrian independence treaty—hitherto balked by Moscow, and free, supervised all-German elections.

The United States, with Britain and France, asked the assembly yesterday to establish a neutral international commission which would investigate possibility of such German elections.

Phone Hearing Set Dec. 7

COLUMBUS, Nov. 7 — (UP) — The State Public Utilities Commission today set Dec. 7 for a special hearing requested by the Ohio Associated Telephone Co., Marion, which is seeking a temporary emergency rate increase.

The company asked the PUC Monday for the rate increase in order to maintain its plant pending a decision on its original application for a rate hike to boost its annual revenue by $1,032,600.

"Blackout" Doesn't Stop Election

Vote by Candlelight As Electricity Fails

A temporary "blackout" in Marion's lighting system at 5:26 p.m. failed to halt voting in most of the precincts shortly before the deadline at 6 p.m. yesterday.

Many precinct officials utilized candles and lanterns to continue with the voting and in some cases to count the ballots. As part of the equipment, each ward was provided two candles prior to the election.

Strong Winds

Cause of the blackout was listed by R. I. Butterworth, Ohio Edison Co. area superintendent, as strong winds which broke a tie wire holding a 34,000 volt conductor on one of the two main transmission circuits between the Scioto power plant and Marion.

Mr. Butterworth said this caused the conductor to come in contact with the cross arm, burning it and setting the pole on fire. The fire spread to the adjoining 34,000 volt circuit, causing both circuits to go out of service. Overloads thrown on the remaining circuits to Marion resulted in three short interruptions to the entire city.

Along with this, two of the distribution feeders, one in the western section of the city in the general vicinity of Davids St. and Bellefontaine Ave. and in the eastern sector of East Center St. and Forest Lawn Blvd., went out of commission.

It was in this eastern area that the service was off the longest.

Workmen Called

It was necessary to call out patrolmen and crews for repair work.

Mr. Butterworth estimated the entire city was without lights for four minutes and most of the city was back to normal within 10 minutes. The fringe areas were back to normal about 8:30 p. m.

Republicans Win 5 Council Seats, Democrats Four

A Republican sweep of all city executive offices was made here in yesterday's general election.

The present political composition of the city government was unchanged after the final count.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

SELDOM has the CIO been under such siege as it is today!

Never before, in the 15 years which mellowed and matured the fiery young labor men of the thirties who seized and ran sit-down strikes in the nation's factories to launch their CIO, have they met in a convention so much under assault by so many opponents as the one they're gathered in today.

Arrogant left wingers, ousted from CIO two years ago, are working with John L. Lewis to disaffect members of at least four CIO unions — their timetable calls for splitting CIO sometime this Spring. These left wingers, led by Harry Bridges while he was in the East last month, passed word on to Lewis that they have strong followings ready to bolt CIO electrical workers, auto workers, packing-house hands and furniture crafts.

Victor Riesel

Disdainfully aware of this boast, Phil Murray, a man of restraint and statesmanship, said in his report to the 13th CIO Constitutional Convention, probably his last as CIO president:

"The CIO is the property of no political party, no theoretical sect, no vested interest."

At the same time, Murray's defiant words were warning as well to Mr. Truman on the other end of the CIO's political world.

THERE ARE REPORTS in the highest CIO circles here that the President is beginning to lose his temper over the strike wave, scheduled stoppages and criticism of the war production boards. Word from the White House is that Mr. Truman might crack down even on his CIO friends.

Nevertheless, the CIO will sound off in ringing cadence.

It will criticize the Administration so unhesitatingly that it plans to include a warning against dispatch of an ambassador to the Vatican.

Emphatically it will warn that it plans to strike, and hard, in any industry to win an average $10-a-week raise for its millions. Murray's Steel Workers have over 2,000 contracts, covering 1,595 companies in the very guts of our defense industries, expiring on the night of Dec. 31. And it won't be a very happy New Year, if there's no agreement before them.

Walter Reuther's Auto Union, the convention report reveals, has begun raising a $15,000,000 strike fund. Jim Carey's electrical, jet and atomic workers already are on the strike front, one such stoppage at Buffalo's Westinghouse plant now nearing its third month.

OBVIOUSLY the government can forget its bid for a no-strike pledge and its hope for mere passing pot shots at its Defense Department. Angered by what he charges are broken promises from Gen. Marshall and Charles Wilson, given personally to him, Emil Rieve, the CIO economic affairs chief, will blast the war agencies.

Rieve's speech will bristle with phrases such as "unrealistic and unplanned war effort."

He will charge in the name of CIO that there is a total lack of urgency in high government circles.

"We have politics as usual, only worse," he plans to charge "We have profits as usual—only higher. We have minks as usual—only more expensive. Nothing is controled except the workers who are being stabilized, de-emphasized, compromised and antagonized!"

Mr. Rieve, a blunt-speaking man when it comes to protecting his people, disdainful of party affiliation and the CIO's political friendship for Mr. Truman (truly an ally of theirs over the years) also will assail the government for doing little about brutal unemployment.

HE'LL CHARGE federal agencies with releasing "completely misleading" figures on unemployment by offering his own statistics. These show that there are now 23 million bread-earners on part-time work—a number which has tripled in the past five months. Other union chiefs will back him up with reports on joblessness in their ranks, a total of 300,000 without any work at all.

And added to the assault from the left, the irritation over massive war production confusion, there is the assault on CIO by the AFL.

Ignore the latest AFL peace offer. It's just part of labor's war of nerves. There is no doubt that the AFL's veteran labor leaders want to isolate CIO politically. Nor is there any doubt that the AFL soon will try to drive CIO from as many factories as possible and absorb CIO eventually.

At the same time, Phil Murray must find leaders to take over CI for this many-fronted fight—for Phil himself wants to retire very soon.

That's why CIO's in a fighting mood here this week—its leaders reaching back for the rebellious militancy which created it in the thirties.

Finds Santa Claus Out of Step With Crime Committee

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7—(AP)—A trip through the toy stores yesterday convinced a newsman that Santa Claus was out of step with the Kefauver committee.

In less than an hour, Ben H. Bagdikian, staff reporter for the Providence Journal-Bulletin, bought the following new-fashioned toys for kiddies:

A complete roulette wheel with layout for placing bets and a guarantee it is an exact miniature of the Monte Carlo wheel; an electric pinball machine; a couple of horse race games; a pair of dice, and a small slot machine of the one-armed bandit variety.

He inquired at one store for a nice bird cage and chuck-a-luck setup. The proprietor regretted that the dice cages would not be in stock for another week.

So, concluded Bagdikian, don't gamble on Santa Claus, children. Gamble with him—and make him give you odds.

FISH WAS HUNGRY

WATERLOO, Iowa — (UP) — Two Waterloo fisherman caught a trout with a fishline trailing from its mouth.

They opened the fish and discovered a hook attached to the end of the line. They also found in its stomach a second rusty hook.

The fish measured six inches.

Plugging Pipes

By Hal Boyle

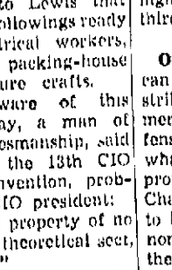
NEW YORK

SO FAR NO American child has been known to enter this world with a smoker's cough.

The average intelligent child isn't born puffing on a cigaret, a pipe, or a cigar.

One reason is that at that age the child isn't sure just which of these cloudy avenues to throat health is the smoothest, mellowest, mildest, and most flavor satisfying. Some infants have even been known to prefer milk

But sometimes between the twilight of puberty and the onset of social security the average American, man or woman, takes up the habit-forming weed, in one form or another.



Hal Boyle

The form in which he does finally embrace tobacco determines the pattern of a great American industry, a business once built on a sniff and a chew and one that now goes up in smoke.

Snuff has become mainly a rural delight. Chewing tobacco is for the rugged individualists who will swallow their pride and stick by their cud even though union charladies refuse to correct their errors at the cuspidor.

BUT THE SNIFFERS and the chawors are in the minority today. The big race for the tobacco dollar is among the puffers—the cigaret, pipe and cigar smokers.

The cigaret smokors lead by far, of course. But the pipe manufacturers, whose sales fell from $33,700,000 in 1948 to $22,500,000 in 1950, are striking back. They want to get their share of the market again.

Spearheading the drive is 37-year-old Morris Levinson, Yale law school honor graduate and president of the Kaywoodie Co., which manufactures about 40 per cent of the pipes sold in America each year.

"This year we expect to do about $24,000,000 in the industry," he said.

"We figure we lost business because the cigaret manufacturers advertised more. So we are advertising more too. And we are emphasizing the same health theme as they do—'guard your throat.'"

HE HAS THE REASONABLE theory that a good $5 pipe is as gentle to a human throat as a package of cigarets is. (No one smokes for fun any more. The idea is to puff something that won't hurt your throat so much—even if your throat doesn't hurt anyway.)

Some nine per cent of American smokers puff pipes solely, some 17 per cent mix pipes, cigars and cigarets.

Prestige pipe smokers include Milton Berle, Bing Crosby, Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, U. S. Steel tycoon Ben Fairless, Herbert Hoover, F. D. Roosevelt Jr., and the late poetess Amy Lowell, a robust lass, who, alas, also enjoyed a good Havana cigar.

"We are also stuck with Joe Stalin and Tito," said Levinson, frowning, and then added, brightening:

"But pipe-smoking certainly hasn't hurt their health.

"THERE ARE ABOUT 120 pipe clubs in the country, including two all-women clubs in New York State.

"Ten years ago we put out a special pipe set for women. It featured six different colored stems to match their dresses. But we didn't burn up the world with it.

"We're still trying to find a way to get more women to smoke pipes."

However, 37 per cent of the nation's pipes are sold as Christmas gifts—and women buy 70 per cent of these. So the industry has to sell the ladies.

(Tomorrow: Why Pipesmokers don't commit crimes).

Fateful Decision

By Inez Robb

WASHINGTON, D. C.

A MAN named Frank McKinney of Indianapolis is chairman of the Democratic national committee today by virtue of the fact that a woman, Mrs. India Edwards, turned down the job when it was offered her by her good friend and great admirer, President Truman.

If she had been willing to accept the chairmanship, Mrs. Edwards would have been the first women ever to head the national committee of either major political party. It would have been a tremendous willow plume in India's chapeau and in that of emancipated womanhood in general.

Inez Robb

But India, an old newspaper gal herself until she took up with the Democratic party in 1944, turned it down.

And why did India, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee and head of its women's division, turn down the plum that would insure her a footnote in history?

Because, apparently, she is convinced that it's a man's world after all. Just like mama always said.

SHE TURNED DOWN the opportunity to be the first woman to head the national committee of a major political party in this country because she was honestly convinced the party stalwarts and ward-heelers would not support or work with a woman in the chairmanship.

India's decision, right or wrong, has occasioned almost as much gossip in the capital as the royal visit. It got a good working-over at a luncheon in honor of Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College. The luncheon for twelve was arranged in order that Miss Blanding might meet some of Washington's prominent newswomen. (I got in on a pass).

Washington's ink-stained wretches included Josephine Ripley of the Christian Science Monitor and president of the Women's National Press Club, Doris Fleeson, the political columnist; May Craig, Maine newspaper woman and feminine tackle on the TV program "Meet the Press," Ida Jean Kain, who tries to keep her readers from eating themselves out of their girdles; Mary Hayworth, the latter day or Freudian Beatrice Fairfax, the radio's Nancy Osgood, Alice Frein Johnson from the Seattle Times and three magazine writers, Elise Morrow, Kathleen Louchheim and Christine Sadler Coe.

WELL, SIR, THE LADIES—of all political faiths—did a great deal of intelligent yammering about whether India had done right to turn down a juicy job that would have done her honor and mebbe raised the status of us peasants: women.

Some of the girls, including the Mmes. Fleeson and Craig, said she should have taken it because she is so smart and shrewd a politician the ward-heelers would have had no choice but to work with her. It would have been fish or cut bait for the boys, in their opinion.

Another faction, led by Miss Osgood, said no, no, no! Men, being what they are (I ain't complaining!) might have boycotted India and left her holding the bag, i.e., a Democratic defeat in 1952.

Finally, a vote was taken among this group, all working women of some years standing or, to fancy it up, "career women." Miss Blanding and I refrained from voting.

To the surprise of all the ladies, the vote was a draw: five of the working girls thought India did right in refusing; five were convinced she had set the cause of politics, the Democrats and women back at least 25 years.

MISS BLANDING said it was mighty interesting, and that's about all she did say.

The news ladies did so much talking that the Vassar prexy scarcely got a word in edgewise except to say that somewhat to her amazement her first student problem after becoming president of Vassar in 1946 was with the football team.

The hundred or so G.I.s enrolled in Vassar that year under the G.I. Bill of Rights formed a Vassar football team and wanted to challenge Skidmore. Miss Blanding put her foot down on that.

"Later on, I did let them play basketball," she added.

However, she has no fear that Vassar will be involved in the current basketball scandal.

Doctors Find Substitute For Plasma

Potent New Blood Medicine Described To U.S. Scientists

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7—(AP)—A potent new blood medicine that may replace plasma in some uses was reported today to the National Academy of Sciences.

It comes from part of human blood. It is rich in chemicals that are especially valuable in fighting shock or treating burns.

An amazing new machine makes this medicine automatically out of whole blood. It actually makes and packages half a dozen or more medicines while a pint of blood is flowing into it from a blood donor's veins.

These new developments in blood were announced by Dr. Edwin J. Cohn, noted Harvard University blood chemist, and Drs. James L. Tullis, Douglas M. Surgenor, William H. Batchelor and Maurice D'Ilont.

The new medicine is called S.P.P.S. — stable plasma protein solution.

The scientists said it is expected to replace plasma and serum albumin, an anti-shock medicine now obtained from blood, as an emergency medicine or for stockpiling against the threat of war wounds and atomic-bomb casualties.

The S.P.P.S. has more of certain normal blood proteins than serum albumin, they said. Also, it can be preserved just as long.

A secret of producing it is new chemical methods, using certain metals and sugars. The new methods break blood into its parts but keep them in their normal state.

The new machine does the whole job. It is portable, so it can be taken to any location in emergency for persons to donate blood. From it come the various blood medicines that can be preserved so that victims of sickness or injury can be given any or all of the blood medicines they need.

Jane Russell Plans To Adopt Young Irish Boy

LONDON, Nov. 7 — (AP)—Movie actress Jane Russell was on her way home today with a fair-haired, blue-eyed 15-month-old Irish boy who was handed to her at the airport by his sobbing mother.

Miss Russell, who has been touring Europe in search of another baby to adopt, took the child from the mother's arms before she departed last night. The child began to wail and reached back towards his mother, and then Miss Russell, too, broke into tears.

"I don't think I can do it—I don't think I can do it," cried the actress. But she was helped aboard with the child; who was identified on the passenger list as Thomas Kavanagh. The mother would not identify herself, nor tell newsmen why she was letting the boy leave.

Miss Russell insisted this was not officially an adoption, since there are immigration difficulties barring such an action just now. She said the baby is going to her California home as her guest.

The actress and her football star husband, Bob Waterfield, already have adopted a baby girl.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 7 — The .65-mill levy for the Union County Memorial Hospital operating expenses was passed here at yesterday's general election, election board officials announced today.

The levy, to run for a three-year period, will provide current operating expenses for the hospital. All special issues in the county were passed. The vote on the hospital levy was 2,271 in favor of the issue and 1,562 opposed.

Mayor Gerald Kingsmore was unopposed for re-election as well as all other municipal officers here.

in confirmation, came the tersely worded message from the Japanese freighter Kenkon Maru which reached the scene at 1:30 a.m., (EST) last night:

"I steer very hard in rough sea so still not pick up men. Still trying." A short while later, it reported seven of the 34 men were rescued, chilled and weakened by exposure to the cold Pacific air and wind.

The George Walton radioed for aid at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, reporting its engine room and crew quarters swept by flames which followed an explosion.

"Three men are dead and one seriously burned," came the frantic message from a radio operator who was driven from his quarters every few minutes by the smoke and fumes. He finally had to follow the other crewmen overside, carrying a portable radio which sputtered out its last appeal for help shortly after 5 o'clock.

Meanwhile, the Kenkon Maru, a slow-moving ship turned from its course sixty miles away after picking up the SOS. Wallowing at six knots in a rolling plunging sea, it steamed directly to the George Walton.

Allies Reject New Buffer Zone Proposal

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 7 — (AP)—Communist truce negotiators today proposed that boundaries of a Korean buffer zone be established now, with both sides permitted to propose changes later.

United Nations committeemen turned it down.

The Allied objection appeared to be that either side could turn down changes proposed later by the other.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, head of the U. N. subcommittee, indicated the hitch was that "no adjustments could be made in the demarcation line as the Communists obviously would not agree.

"It would be a de facto ceasefire," he said. "It's the same thing they have brought up for three days."

Churchill Cuts Foreign Spending $980 Million

LONDON, Nov. 7—(AP)— The Conservative government announced today it has decided to cut Britain's spending abroad by $980 million a year to halt a startling drain on its gold-dollar reserves.

R. A. Butler, the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, outlined the plan in a speech to the House of Commons disclosing that the vital reserves plummeted $320 million in October alone.

Total Vote Down, Blame Bad Weather

The total vote at yesterday's general election was slightly under the pre-election estimates of several political observers.

City voters totaling 8,497 cast ballots. This was under the 9,513 who voted in the last comparable off-year election in 1949.

Election Board officials listed the county vote at 3,399 to give a total combined vote city-county vote of 11,896. The figure in 1949 was 14,124.

Weather conditions yesterday were listed as keeping many voters away from the polls. Several city residents as well as those living in rural areas were kept at home by yesterday's rain and sleet.

The weather also caused precinct returns to be late in arriving at the Election Board office. A power failure caused by weather conditions held up the vote counting at several precinct voting places and some workers counted the votes by candle light in an effort to speed up returns.

Precinct A of the First Ward was the first to report in last night. Returns from that precinct were received around 8:47, election workers reported.

Millionaire, Wife, 4 Others Drown As Storm Sinks Yacht

CASABLANCA, Nov. 7—(AP)—Millionaire society sportsman Freddy McEvoy, ex-husband of two oil heiresses and boyhood chum of movie actor Errol Flynn, died a hero's death yesterday in a vain attempt to save his third wife from drowning off the storm-battered Moroccan coast.

McEvoy, his French wife, Claude, and four others perished yesterday when his yacht "Kangaroo" was driven on the rocks about 100 yards offshore in a violent storm 100 miles south of Casa Blanca.

Three members of the yacht crew swam to safety.

The 43-year-old sportsman and international society figure was swimming through 30-foot-high seas only six feet from shore, the survivors said, when he turned back to aid his wife some distance behind. As he neared her side, their strength failed and both sank.

They died after 18 hours of terror—12 of them in darkness—aboard the wrecked yacht, which had turned on its side and was breaking up. Two French sailors were swept overboard. A Spanish sailor threw himself into the sea and sank. Mrs. McEvoy's French maid, lashed to the mast, was torn loose by the wind and carried away.

The yacht, on a cruise from Cannes to the Bahamas, was trying to enter the port of Safi but was kept out by blinding sand clouds. It ran aground Monday a few miles north of Cap Cantin shortly after noon and turned on its side.

MERCY FLIGHT BABY LOSES PIN. Arriving at the end of a 9,175 mile flight from Manila, tiny 11-month-old Elvira Difuntorum, daughter of a $2-a-week peddler, heads for St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago where doctors removed a straight pin lodged in her lung. Doctors said the last of nine pins the infant swallowed now has traveled from the stomach to the intestine and the child is in excellent condition. Nurse Lital Batista accompanied the infant. Manila and San Francisco businessmen financed the mercy flight.

cil, school board and local issues produced several heavy turnouts.

Cleveland's Democratic Mayor Thomas A. Burke won a fourth straight 2-year term to tie the all-time tenure record of Tom L. Johnson just after the turn of the century.

And in Columbus, Republican Mayor James A. Rhodes gained a third 4-year term to match the all-time record set by the late James J. Thomas for that city.

The constitutional amendment question won general favor in metropolitan areas. But rural returns usually were against it.

The vote in 7,462 of the state's 10,321 polling places was 678,147 yes to 581,615 no early today in returns compiled by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Large Counties Benefit

Voters defeated the proposal by 2,356 votes in 1948. The vote that year was 876,647 no to 874,291 yes. The legislature put the issue on the ballot both times. Several large counties say they need an extra probate judge to handle mounting court business. Approval of the constitutional change will permit the legislature to grant the requests.

In Youngstown, a "strict law enforcement" platform was sturdy enough to keep Republican Mayor Charles P. Henderson on for a third term. He defeated John A. Bannon, a Democrat.

Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus defeated another Republican to stay in office. His opponent, former Mayor Floyd F. Green, got on the ballot by a write-in method allowed by the city charter. Democrats offered no candidate.

Pomeroy returned former Mayor Delmar A. Canady to office as an Independent. Gov. Thomas Herbert removed him as mayor in 1948 on charges of malfeasance and misfeance in office. Later an audit of village book by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson gave him a clean bill of health.

Nelson Blue New Mayor At Richwood

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, Nov. 7—Nelson Blue was elected to two posts in Richwood—mayor and councilman. He plans to resign as councilman to be mayor and have an appointee fill his council post.

He received 224 votes as a write-in candidate for mayor as against 192 votes for his nearest opponent, Charles Brown.

Elected to council were: D. J. Riley, C. F. Gill, John Livingston, Glenn Oman, and Joe Gaston. Blue's post will be filled by his own appointee.

The post of village treasurer was to have been filled by a write-in candidate, but the question had not been decided yet today as the election board counted and re-counted votes, it was reported.

Both Parties Score Upsets In Key Spots

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—(AP)—Republicans and Democrats claimed victory today in yesterday's off-year elections.

But non-political laymen had difficulty reading into the results any trend likely to affect next year's presidential and congressional races.

The Democrats took the biggest prize by breaking a 68-year Republican grip on Philadelphia's city hall. On the other hand, a Republican swept to victory in the mayor's race in Indianapolis, Ind., home town of Frank E. McKinney, new Democratic national chairman.

The loss of Philadelphia, a blow to Republicans, was offset somewhat by Rudolph Halley's capture of the New York City council presidency, a party-splitting result in the nation's No. 1 city.

If the Republicans lost caste and organization in Pennsylvania, the national organization Democrats were no happier in New York.

Republicans claimed a "sweep" of four congressional seats. This meant a net gain of one seat in the House, bringing the GOP representation to 200 against the Democrats' 233, one vacancy to be filled in Nebraska on Dec. 4 and one independent.

The gain came in Ohio's Third District, where a Democrat had been elected in 1946 and 1950. This was regarded generally as an aid to the campaign of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Truman Blocks Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—(AP)—Swift federal action has postponed a threatened widespread railway strike for at least two months.

The firemen's and enginemen's union called the strike yesterday against four key railway operating units, to start Thursday.

But the National Railway Mediation Board immediately certified the dispute for White House action. President Truman quickly blocked the strike by creating a three-member emergency board to consider the dispute. Members of the board will be named later.

Flying Jeep Next For Army; Road Bumper Will Be "Fleep"

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Army Department reports that the "mighty mite of military mobility," the A jeep, soon may get wings.

Plans before research officials call for an airphibian—a jeep capable of operating in the air as a plane or on the ground as a wheeled vehicle.

If it works out, the tiny, tough vehicle that became almost indispensable to the Army in World War II and proved itself both on the ground and in the water, is being measured for a new mission.

The flying jeep may be called an airmobile or a autoplane, but the name most likely to stick is "fleep."

Army officers who have flown and driven the fleep's civilian counterpart are enthusiastic about its performance and possibilities.

The civilian airmobile, developed by Continental, Inc., of Danbury, Conn., already has been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Association. Robert C. Fulton Jr., president of Continental, said it is ready for production.

Easily Converted

Fulton made tests for Army officers and showed how the airphibian could be converted from an aircraft to a road vehicle in less than five minutes and from a road vehicle to an aircraft in less than seven minutes.

The Army's version of the fleep would be in line with a continuous search for means of making ground combat forces more mobile. The fleep would permit reconnaissance, observation, movement of men, evacuation of wounded, and supply and transport functions either on the ground or in the air.

Plans presented to Army research and development officials outline a single engine, closed-cabin, high-winged aircraft. It would be quickly convertible by one person without tools to a land operable vehicle.

While aloft, the dual-purpose carrier would accommodate a pilot and observer, including their parachutes and tactical radio equipment. It would seat at least four occupants when used as a ground vehicle.

Tests Prove Worth

Sketches of the contemplated fleep resemble both the present Army liaison type plane and the sturdy jeep.

An adequate military air-ground vehicle would be required to fly from unprepared airstrips and drive over unimproved roads. Two years of testing with the civilian model in all types of climatic and terrain conditions have proved those obstacles can be conquered.

The flying jeep is just a few steps from reality. It is another example of civilian ingenuity converted to military needs. At the same time, Army planners are investigating the possibility of developing a helicopter jeep, which if successful, would have an advantage over the airphibian fleep in that it could land almost anywhere.

Cattle Association Honors Union Co. Man

For the third consecutive year, P. G. Boerger and Son, of Marysville, have qualified for the progressive breeders' award, presented by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the association reported today. This honor the highest recognition bestowed upon a breeder of registered Holstein-Friesian dairy cattle, has been achieved by only 193 Holstein breeding establishments in the entire nation, and Mr. Boerger and Son are one of 15 in Ohio to be so recognized.

In order to achieve the progressive breeders' award, a breeder must meet strict qualifications in all phases of dairy work, including production, type improvement, herd health and progress in development of homebred animals.

The Boerger herd has been tested for production in official Herd Improvement Registry for three consecutive years. The last test year was completed July 31, 1951, with the 10-cow herd averaging 543 pounds of butterfat and 15,506 pounds of milk in 294 days on two milkings daily.

Volunteers Needed By Red Cross

Volunteers in the various services of the Red Cross are urgently needed by the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. John P. Courtright, chairman of the volunteer services announced today.

This means more canteen units, nurses aides Gray Ladies, and motor corps helpers, the chairman points out. Also volunteer assistance is needed in other services.

Through Red Cross Service everyone can find a way to serve according to his own abilities and available time, the Red Cross states. Each job is of vital necessity, and through this service the volunteer serves not only the community but the nation.

Information on the various services may be obtained from Mrs. Courtright, phone 2-0645 or from the chapter office, 2-1653. Application forms are now available and should be in the chapter office on or before Nov. 15.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Mr. Silvers Plays Mr. Berle

Uncle Miltie has come a long way—perhaps a little too far for his own good. The suspicion exists that he inspired and was the fictionalized hero, if that's the word for that particular character, of at least one novel. Now, he's the hero—that word again—of a very funny Broadway musical, "Top Banana," which may be the louslest title of the year.

John Crosby

At any rate, the authors — Hy Kraft, who wrote the book; Johnny Mercer, who wrote the songs and lyrics —and Phil Silvers, who plays the part, certainly must have had Mr. Berle in mind when they fashioned this extraordinarily exuberant lampoon of a top television comic. Right away, it's my guess, the authors and Mr. Silvers were faced with a rather serious dilemma. Television manages to caricature itself so ably that it's difficult to improve on the original. Also, Mr. Berle's own behavior both on and off-stage is of such an extravagant nature that it's almost impossible to go him one better, short of flying off the stage altogether.

NEVERTHELESS, Mr. Silvers, clearly the only man in the world who could handle the assignment, manages to surround all of Mr. B's eccentricities, notably what might be described charitably as a mild case of megalomania, with winning charm and great affability. Believe me, that is no easy task; the original has worked toward this goal for some time now and he still has a considerable distance to go. My own response to the dramatization of Mr. Berle is perhaps a little more open-hearted than just everyone's because of the special nature of the work I do.

To me there is something fundamentally hilarious and at the same time rather poignant in a man who has to cart around four gag-writers and yes-men to supply him with jokes and, more importantly, to laugh at their own jokes after they are restated by Mr. Silvers. I'm also intrigued by the idea of a man who has writers around to furnish him similies to conclude the sentence "It's as warm as . . ." while he's phoning his girl. This is a very nice idea indeed, and I wish I could afford some writers to supply me with witty telephonic repartee, my own behavior on telephones being so cryptic as to be completely unintelligible except to a few close friends who, over a period of years, have managed to figure out what the grunts mean.

IN FAIRNESS to Mr. Berle, it ought to be pointed out that he doesn't need four writers or any writers around to supply him with jokes. His head is the repository of more old jokes than Joe Miller ever heard of, a good many of which have found their way into "Top Banana." Somehow they seem funnier coming off a stage than they do coming out of my TV screen, conceivably because Berle takes them seriously and Silvers doesn't.

"Top Banana," I had better explain right now, is no "Pal Joey," not even a "Call Me Madam." Well, let's come right out with it; it ain't art, it's just theater and frequently not very good theater. Whenever the stage is bereft of Mr. Silvers and his retinue of yes-men, chiefly so that the authors can further a preposterous and hopelessly unnecessary love affair between a couple of juveniles, "Top Banana" starts coming apart at the seams. Fortunately, Mr. Silvers' talents are extensively employed throughout most of the two hours and the show is a personal triumph for one of the most underrated comics in the business.

IT'S ALSO SOMETHING of a triumph for Mr. Berle. You can now take Berle straight on his own TV show. Or you can get him in book form. Or you can go watch Mr. Silvers' elaborations on the original theme. That's quite a lot of Berle and it's my guess that it pretty well exhausts the Berle possibilities for the time being. About the only thing left to be written around Uncle Miltie is a play in blank verse by Christopher Fry, starring Laurence Olivier. I expect that'll be along next season.

Two persons were injured yesterday when Jesse L. Jones, 31, of near Marion lost control of his car on Route 42 and drove off the road, narrowly missing the home of H. B. Garverick of near Mt. Gilead. The Jones car knocked down a curve sign and a small pine tree, missed hitting the house by two feet and stopped after striking a maple tree.

Jones was driving north on Route 42, 3½ miles north of Mt. Gilead, at 8:50 a. m. when the accident occurred. The front end of the car was damaged extensively.

Injured were passengers in the car, Mary Robinson, 51, of near Massillon, lacerations and body bruises, and Amy Steels, 43, also of near Marion, body bruises. They were taken by the Craven ambulance of Mt. Gilead to Mansfield General Hospital.

Three other accidents yesterday were reported by the state highway patrol. None of them resulted in injury to persons involved.

A truck driven by Cloyd R. Rice, 33, of near Galion and a car driven by William G. Berry Jr., 28, of near Martel sideswiped at 4:35 p. m. on a right angle curve of Railroad St. in Martel. Rice was traveling south, turning west, and Berry was going east and turning north. Moderate damage to both vehicles was reported.

Cars driven by Ethel M. Orr, 41, of near Sycamore and Ralph Hess, 32, of near Sycamore sideswiped at 8:35 a. m. on Main St. in Sycamore at 8:35 a. m. The vehicles were damaged slightly.

A car driven by Leonard E. Walker, 27, of near Marion ran off the road and hit a phone pole at 1 p. m. on Route 30-S, in Hardin County, two miles west of the Marion County line. The left side of the car was damaged.

The biggest gold nugget ever found was 54 inches long, 5½ inches thick and weighed 195 pounds. It was dug out at Carson Hill, California, in 1854.

One of Services Financed by "Follies"

Guild Supplies Clothing for Needy

This is the third in a series of articles describing civic projects sponsored by the Marion County Junior Service Guild. Money to finance the projects is raised through the 'Junior Service Guild Follies of 1951,' which will be presented at the Palace Theater Nov. 15 and 16.

In the early days of the Junior Service Guild, the need became apparent for a distribution center for good used clothing. With the assistance of Miss Vivian Hall, Marion County welfare director, and her staff, the Guild's clothing center was opened in August of 1949 in the Welfare Department office, located in the Uhler-Phillips building.

During the past year a total of 1,821 garments and 11 complete layettes were given to needy families. Included in the above totals were 205 pairs of used shoes, many of which were repaired without charge by a local shoe repair shop.

Recommended by the Welfare Department and coming to the clothing center with their clothing problems each month were 71 "aid for dependent children" families with small, but inadequate, clothing allowances. Also recommended were 165 "general assistance" families with no clothing allowance, who depend entirely upon the clothing center for their clothing needs.

In addition to supplying the clothing the Guild has furnished layettes to the Child Welfare Agency, play clothes and bathing suits to children recommended by agencies for camp activities during the summer, and to families who have been victims of fires.

Guild members, headed by Mrs. Lewis Ashworth, chairman, operate the clothing center. It is open Wednesday afternoon and Saturday morning of each week.

The woman shown pouring orange juice for kindergarten children in a picture illustrating the first article in this series was Mrs. Evelyn McCombs, assistant teacher of the Junior Service Guild kindergarten. She was incorrectly identified as Mrs. Robert Kranet in last Friday's Star.

Police Set Up Identification Laboratory

Will Take Photos, Fingerprints In Basement Room

Identification work carried on by the Marion police department will be speeded up and modernized with a new identification department laboratory opened this week.

A portion of the basement at city hall has been set aside for the identification laboratory which measures 8 by 20 feet.

All the photo work as well as the fingerprinting activities of the department will be carried on there.

Police have also installed a photo dark room measuring 10 by 10 feet. It includes enlargers and all developing equipment. Police already own a press type camera and a fingerprint camera which is used to assist in investigations.

Police have been doing specialized identification work for some months, but analyzing the work has been hindered because of an inadequate place to work, Police Chief Tom Coon reported.

When persons are arrested they will be photographed and fingerprinted in the new laboratory. The fingerprint record as well as their photographs will be filed with their criminal records and kept for future reference.

As a further assistance in the identification of fingerprints, Captain Justin Cornely has been trained to classify fingerprints.

One wall of the lab has been painted white and heights marked on it in black paint. Those arrested will be photographed next to this wall so their height will appear in the photograph.

Filing cabinets are also to be placed in the lab to store the identification cards and photo records of crimes, Chief Coon said.

Kohbarger Wins Sewer Contract

G. K Kohbarger has been awarded a contract for the construction of 285 feet of 8-inch storm water sewer and 6-inch sanitary sewer on Garfield St.

The contract was awarded Monday and construction is to begin immediately, Safety Service Director Ralph Forrest reported.

Kohbarger was the only bidder on the project when bids were received Oct. 27. The bid was $2,205.

The idea of Father's Day originated with Mrs. John B. Dodd, Spokane. The first celebration was held in Spokane June 19, 1910.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"Have I perhaps an idea about briefing Bill?" Harry Underwood provokingly echoed my question. "I am chuck-full of ideas, all of them super. Here's my choicest one."

He leaned forward in his chair, interlocked the fingers of his hands and spoke pontifically.

"The Dicky-Bird is the natural one to work on Bill," he said. "The lad adores him, and thinks his every word is a pearl of purest ray serene, and if I hear any corrections on that, somebody's derriere is going to be blistered."

He glared at us truculently, and Lillian flung him a tart answer.

Nobody's worrying about your embroidery," she said. "If you'll get down to cases, and give out with something worth a hoot in the hot place, we'll be grateful. We might even consider thinking it over."

"Please go on about Bill and Dicky," I told Harry hurriedly, for, although I know the continual "ragging" the Underwoods give each other is only camouflage for their deep mutual affection, I was so worried about the problem Bill and Mildred presented, that I felt I simply could not endure another word of foolery.

"We'll shut up, pronto," Lillian said, with a comradely nose-wrinkle at me. "Get going Harry. Elucidate!"

"It's really very elementary, Watson," Harry said: "Nobody knows as well how to deal with a lad going through the first throes of love as a tactful older man who has been through the mill. You needn't look down your nose, Lady Fair. You've surely guessed that the Dicky-Bird swung on a bough with two or three fair little canaries before he plucked you from a gardenia plant."

"Please keep to your text," I pleaded, laughing, and Lillian boomed a warning "Harry!"

"Okay, okay," he said hurriedly. "My proposition is this. That the Dicky-Bird get to Bill as soon as possible, and chirp: (a) the fact that Mildred, while bent on going through with the assignment your father had given her, because she thought it was her duty to do so, was planning to leave college because of the criticism she would receive for wearing expensive clothing when attending the dinner party at New Haven; (b) an outline of the plan your father has made for her, and (c) the warning that Bill must give no hint to Mildred that he has heard anything about the matter. She must believe that his first news of your father's offer has come from her.

"But," Harry went on, "I think even your circumscribed feminine intellects can see the advantage of having Bill prepared for the news by Dicky's Machiavellian hand. He will be much less apt to upset the milk pail, or the apple cart, or what have you? And remember that what Mildred doesn't know can't possibly hurt her."

He leaned back in his chair, so palpably pleased with himself that I had the primitive instinct to smack him. But something deep within me agreed with his philosophy, although the tattered remnants of my Puritan upbringing rebelled against the twisted ethics of his proposition.

Lillian sent a shrewd look in my direction.

"Better lock up the Puritan training in the coal cellar for the duration, old dear," she counseled. "We're dealing with deadly realities. Your father needs Mildred in this most important of all his problems. To have her quit school is unthinkable. Bill must be brought to see reason before they meet. Just scrap everything else. When you've done that, I'm sure you'll see that my spouse, much as I hate to admit it, has come up with the only solution."

Taft Turns States Righter In Dixie Bid

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov 7—(AP)—Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio waved the states rights flag again yesterday and called on southerners to forget their "prejudice against the name Republican" and back the GOP on "Fundamental issues."

The Ohio candidate for his party's presidential nomination again urged a strong republican campaign in traditionally Democratic Dixie in a news conference and a speech at a party rally he reaffirmed his States Rights position and added his belief in the "liberty of our cities, of our counties and of school districts to run their own affairs."

Taft said he always has voted for anti-poll tax and anti-lynching measures in Congress, but has opposed such measures as the Fair Employment Practices Commission bills which would give federal agencies the power to punish those it thinks are violating federal directives.

Southern opposition to President Truman's program for enactment of the FEPC bill was one of the primary causes of the 1948 States Rights revolt.

"The issues at stake are fundamental," Taft said, "and I refuse to believe that in the face of such issues, southern Democrats are going to be influenced by any prejudice against the name Republican."

Taft will fly to Biloxi, Miss., tonight for another address.

First EUB Church Plans Ladies' Night Program

For Ladies' Night at First EUB Church Thursday at 7:30, a program of music and a film will be presented. This will be another in the Dedication Week services at the church. The theme will be "and all the women that were wisehearted did work with their hands and brought it as an offering unto the Lord."

A song service will be followed by devotions led by Mrs. Clyde Underwood. Miss Sally Schneider will play piano solos, and instrumental selections will be by Mrs. Cyril Bryant and sons. The film, "A Wonderful Life," will close the program. A committee in charge will be composed of Mrs. Geraldine Caldwell, Mrs. Florence Rank and Mrs. Fern Roberts.

Rotary Club Ladies Night Party Held

Cleveland Man Speaks on Hobbies At Dinner Event

"How to Retire and Enjoy Life" was the theme Burr Abbott of Cleveland chose for his address last night at the Rotary Club's semi-annual Ladies Night dinner party at the Marion Country Club. Mr. Abbott, who has retired after long service with the Woolworth Company, modeled with clay while talking to illustrate his points.

He told how he had at first wanted to become a cartoonist and later decided to take up sculpturing. However, this hobby was put into the background until he retired and could devote all of his time to it.

Mr. Abbott believes that every person should have some hobby to look forward to after he retires. He said it gives one a certain feeling of accomplishment to be able to rely on himself and feel assured he will not be idle.

Hobby Important

"It is very important, whether you are 21 or 51, to be thinking of a hobby," he commented.

While talking, he modeled several different replicas of human beings with clay, from the primitive cave man to the modern sailor.

He closed his address on this note: "The only way to multiply happiness, is to divide it."

Francis B. Huber, president of the club, presided and introduced Jack Kinter, who presented the speaker.

New members of the club, attending their first ladies night party, were welcomed, along with their wives, who also were present for their first social event with the club. They included Mr. and Mrs. Perry Bachelder, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bagley, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bearden, Mr. and Mrs. Merle O. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Oborn, and Mr. and Mrs. George Howser.

Other Guests

Other guests included Miss Lucile Foreman and Miss Mary Jo Stafford.

Committee in charge of the ladies night affair was composed of Jack Kinter, John C. Turner and Malcolm Strehtz.

Georgeann Zuck was the student reporter from the journalism class of Harding High School.

another reminder . . .

about GAS for house-heating

This is a reminder about two things in regard to the use of natural gas for house-heating:

1—Under emergency Orders of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio there are restrictions on the use of new or additional furnaces, conversion burners, circulating heaters, unit heaters, or other gas-fired space heating equipment to be connected to The Ohio Fuel Gas Company lines.

2—Under the Public Utilities Commission Orders, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is required to shut off the entire supply of natural gas to any consumer who fails to disconnect space heating equipment being used in violation of the Orders.

RESTRICTIONS ARE TO PROTECT OUR PRESENT CUSTOMERS

This winter, the expected demands for natural gas here will exceed the available supply. Under such circumstances it is obvious that service to all customers would be endangered if we attempted to spread out the limited supply among more and more people who desire gas for heating.

To protect the service of our present customers, we were among those who asked the Public Utilities Commission for Orders under which we would not approve additional space heating installations at the present time.

NO APPROVALS GRANTED ON NOTICES OF INTENT FILED AFTER LAST MAY 17

The Orders of the Public Utilities Commission, now in effect, provide, among other things:

1—That no natural gas company shall be required to supply gas for additional space heating equipment, or for space heating equipment using gas in replacement of other fuels, unless the consumer notifies the company in writing of his intention and receives approval from the company.

2—That The Ohio Fuel Gas Company shall not approve any Notices of Intent filed with the company after May 17, 1951.

3—That if a consumer uses gas-fired space heating equipment not eligible for service under the Orders, the company is required to direct the consumer in writing to disconnect the equipment and discontinue its use. If the consumer fails to do so within ten days, the company is required to discontinue the entire supply of natural gas to the consumer until the equipment has been disconnected.

In its Orders, the Public Utilities Commission noted that the present emergency has resulted from "the continuing unprecedented demand for gas and the inability of the utilities and their suppliers to provide facilities to make additional gas available to consumers in the State of Ohio, both accentuated by conditions resulting from the Korean War and the present national defense effort."

WHAT OHIO FUEL IS DOING TO MEET THE DEMANDS

If you are waiting to get gas for space heating, a look at what has happened and what we are doing should be encouraging.

In the past five years Ohio Fuel has acquired substantial additional gas supplies and has spent $78,500,000 for pipelines and other facilities to handle and deliver this gas. As a result:

THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY HAS INCREASED ITS ANNUAL GAS DELIVERIES BY 60 PER CENT. This is an annual increase equal to all of the gas delivered last year to the entire cities of Columbus, Toledo, Springfield, Athens, Mansfield, Zanesville, Fremont, and Elyria.

OHIO FUEL IS FURNISHING GAS TO 60,000 MORE OHIO HOMES. In numbers that is as many customers as Ohio Fuel now serves altogether in Newark, Marion, Elyria, Fremont, Sandusky, Zanesville, and Lorain.

THE COMPANY IS PROVIDING GAS FOR HEATING IN 5 TIMES AS MANY HOMES. The number of homes enjoying gas heat was multiplied five times, increasing from 50,000 to 266,000. The homes of more than half of Ohio Fuel customers are heated with gas.

We are continuing to provide still additional facilities and to procure gas from any possible source, to the end that this record of service may be extended and improved.

NOTICES WILL BE RECORDED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED

Ohio Fuel is continuing to receive "Notices of Intent" from people who want to install gas space heating equipment. These notices are being recorded, and when it is possible to modify existing restrictions they will be considered in the order in which they were received.

ONLY USE OF GAS FOR SPACE HEATING IS RESTRICTED

The restrictions apply only to new or additional space heating equipment. There are no restrictions on connecting or using gas ranges, refrigerators, water heaters, laundry dryers, incinerators, and other such base-load appliances.

A REMINDER THAT ALL OF US MUST COMPLY WITH THE ORDERS

Most persons are aware of the restrictions and the reasons for them. This is another reminder that the Public Utilities Commission Orders are for the protection of our 520,000 customers. It is also a reminder that Ohio Fuel must comply with the Orders—even to discontinuing all service to any home or other building in which space heating equipment is being used in violation of Public Utilities Commission Orders.

We will continue every effort to get more gas. For the time being we sincerely ask for your understanding and cooperation.

Navy Unveils Rocket Ships

New Planes So Speedy Air Friction Boils Water

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. Nov. 7—(AP)—We have a rocket plane, the Navy's Douglas Skyrocket, so speedy that air friction can make it hotter than boiling water

This plane has gone higher than 72,000 feet (more than 13 miles), the highest published flight of man.

We have three of these planes and the facts uncovered by them, mostly still secret, are expected to benefit many combat planes which still are in the designing board stage.

These reports were made by A. A. Mayo, of the Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc., El Segundo, Calif., to a symposium on the medical and other human problems of speed and flight up near the borders of outside space.

First of Its Kind

The symposium here is the first of its kind It is sponsored by the U.S Air Force school of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, and the Lovelace Foundation, of Albuquerque, N. M. Physicians, physicists, flyers, airplane designers and astronomers are on the four-day program.

The air friction that is hotter than boiling water, Mayo said, comes at low altitudes. It is met by a refrigeration system in the cockpit. As the rocket ship reaches 70,000 feet the friction is no longer so hot. But above that altitude there is so little air that the heat of the sun's rays becomes intolerable, unless a cooling system is used.

The cooling above 70,000 feet will have to be different than present cooling for lower altitudes, Mayo said. He predicted liquid oxygen for cooling as ships go still higher. And ultimately, he said, the difference in temperature on the sunny and shady sides of a ship can be used for cooling.

No Problem

There is, he said, one terror which is not going to bother us much, namely the astonishing heat of very thin upper air. At 35 miles this temperature is 170 Fahrenheit and at 400 miles it is 4,000 degrees. But the air particles are so far apart at those altitudes they probably will not even be felt as heat.

These fast planes run away from the noises they make, because they travel faster than sound. But Mayo said there is cause to worry about the supersound vibrations of jet and rocket engines. They are not audible, but no one is sure whether they may harm the men inside the plane.

Trust and luck are villages within three miles of one another between Waynesville and Hot Springs, North Carolina.

Indiana In Market for Grid Coach

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A. L. McCLAIN

BOXING'S DUPLICITY. With the prosecutor's offices suddenly becoming bent with righteous indignation there comes the question: when are they going to turn from misguided ex-college basketball players and get around to the big hoax of professional boxing.

Granted that basketball and perhaps even football can stand some investigating, it is the corrupt "sport" of boxing that deserves a thorough house-cleaning.

PURSES HELD. No such terms as "fix" or "in the dump" reveal crookedness in the fight game, but the announcement "purse is help up" is a more polite way of saying one fighter "went into the tank" as men in the fight game refer to a crooked bout.

The advent of TV curbed these practices somewhat, but it is doubtful that the medium will provide a needed cleaning. Going down from a punch that just missed is noticeable from your living room on 20-inch screen and even a canvas-backed pug doesn't feel capable of fooling a million TV fans.

NEVER TOO LATE. In a recent match seen by local TV viewers, an ex-champ fought in what was supposed to be a tuneup for a bout with the champion. For more than nine rounds he got his well-dented ears and nose cuffed.

Someone said, "There goes his title shot."

"Wanna bet?" we challenged.

Just before the end of the 10th round the other fighter went down hopped up without a count. The referee waved him to a corner and the ex-champ had his title shot assured.

BUM FROM DOWN UNDER. In another recent fight, a middleweight from Australia was imported for a buildup at a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's crown. The announcer kept up a lively chatter telling TV observers what a great fighter the Aussie was.

All the time he was stumbling around like a pickniker in a sack race. He barely won the decision. In his next start — a bout not televised—he won by a knockout over a pug who has had his purse held up more than once.

TIME FOR AIRING. There are many other examples of how the fight game is misleading citizens into believing it is on the up and up. Last winter a fighter down for the fifth time in the second round was not so exhausted that he couldn't argue with the referee who accused him of quitting.

And so it goes. The fight game has a lot of old skeletons clanking in the closet while DAs go after basketball players who were misled by gamblers.

A house-cleaning is in order, but let's not forget the basement —which is boxing.

Steelers End Bows to Boos

Jansante To Quit; Fans Don't Like Him

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7—(AP)—Star end Val Jansante, 30, of the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers says he's quitting professional football because Pittsburgh fans always boo him.

Coach Johnny Michelosen, said he believed Jansante had been playing "better ball this season than he has for the past couple of seasons."

And Jansante said he is at a loss to explain the booing. He declared:

"I got booed even before I played a single game in Pittsburgh this year. The first booing came when I was introduced from the field for the first game and the booing hasn't let up since.

'If I only knew what the trouble was I might have been able to make some adjustments but there's no use playing for fans who boo you at every turn.

Jansante, who played his college football at Duquesne University here after starring with a high school near Pittsburh, joined the Steelers in 1946. He holds three all-time Steelers records for pass receiving.

Swami Likes Notre Dame Over MSU

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 — (AP)— Discounting the Iowa-Minnesota tie, the Ol' Swami hasn't had a loser in two weeks. With an eye to the weather, he isn't making any guarantee as he pulls these out of his turban.

Notre Dame 20 Michigan State 14—a hunch says the Spartans can't squeeze by those fiery youngsters of Notre Dame, whose only loss (to SMU) probably did them more good than harm.

Illinois 21 Iowa 7—the Hawkeyes haven't beaten Illinois in nine years, and no team has beaten Illinois this year.

Northwestern 20 Purdue 19—the Wildcats will have to play their best game in a month to shade improving Purdue.

Others in a hurry:

Wisconsin 27, Penn 7. Michigan 20, Cornell 6; Indiana 14, Minnesota 7; Ohio State 28, Pitt 7; Holy Cross 21, Marquette 13.

LOADED WITH LUCK

EAST POINT, Ga.—(UP)—A suburban Atlanta family says it won't be surprised at any good luck that happens now. A daughter, Linda, 12, found 46 four-leaf clovers while playing in a yard. For extra measure, she came up with five clovers that had six leaves.

Sees Possibility Of Only One Major League

DETROIT, Nov. 7—(AP)—The possibility of only one major baseball league by 1960 was raised today by H. G. Salsinger, sports editor of the Detroit News.

He referred to predictions that there might eventually be four or even six major leagues.

The reason, he said, is that "fewer and fewer players of big league caliber are being developed," and "the number has rapidly decreased in the last 15 years."

Other points made by Salsinger were:

1. Most minor league clubs lost money this last year, and might lose even more as a major, due to higher salaries.

2. Only a few cities outside the present majors could support a big league team from a population point of view.

3. There was a sharp drop in attendance last year, and a further decline is likely during the coming season, "the result of higher income taxes."

Upper Ends Grid Season at Carey

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O.—Captain Bill Wolfe and seven other Upper Sandusky High School seniors will play their last high school football Friday night when the Rams travel to nearby Carey for their traditional end of season tilt with the Blue Devils. The senior varsity squad members are, Captain Wolfe, Allen Newell, Gerald Schuler, Bob Caldwell, Dick Beidler, Gene Tooman, Don Saull, and Bob Halm.

The Rams completed their Northern Ohio League schedule last week with an upset 14-6 win over Shelby in the homecoming game here. They opened the season with a non-league loss at Westerville and in league play won from Crestline, Willard, Bucyrus and Shelby while losing to Bellevue, league champions (6-1), Galion, the runners-up (5-1-1) and Norwalk (3-3-1).

Pressure Too Much For Clyde Smith

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 7—(AP)—Indiana University today began looking for something it never has had — a football coach who can win consistently in the Western Conference. Officials had no idea who he could be.

Clyde B. Smith is the 10th who couldn't make it. He resigned yesterday, effective at the end of this season, with two years to go on his contract.

Closest

Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, Smith's predecessor at Indiana, came closest to a winning record in Big Ten competition. His 14 I. U. teams broke even in the tough circuit, winning 34, losing 34 and tying six. His 1945 team won Indiana's only conference championship.

Smith, a short muscular man who refrains from liquor, tobacco and profanity, walked into Athletic Director Paul (Pooch) Harrell's office and said he was quitting because "I'd like to be happy for the next three weeks and coach the boys like they deserve to be coached." He did not elaborate.

Smith's four teams at Indiana have won eight games, lost 24 and tied one—well under the university's all-time 218-220-36 record. In the Big Ten they have won four and lost 17, also under the 67-143-18 record.

Scattered alumni began sniping at Smith after his current squad, expected to be his best, lost one-sided games to Notre Dame and Michigan and defeated Pittsburgh by only one touchdown.

The clamor subsided for a time after Oct. 20 when Indiana upset Ohio State, 32-10. The team since has lost to Illinois and Wisconsin but made creditable showings in both games. It plays at Minnesota Saturday and finishes with home games against Michigan State and Purdue.

An Indiana athletic department member said there had been no organized opposition to Smith and his resignation was unexpected. Asking that his name be withheld, he said Indiana's perennial football troubles are a puzzle to all concerned.

ROSE BOWL BEYOND BLACKBOARD? Coach Ray Eliot (right) of University of Illinois gives blackboard talk to three members of football team Nov. 5, at Champaign, Ill., as they prepared to defend their No. 1 position in Big Ten standings with game against Iowa University Saturday as next objective. The team which was voted No. 2 in nation in AP poll this week, is hoping for a Rose Bowl invitation. Left to right: Bob Lenzini, guard, of North Chicago, Ill.; Chuck Boerio, line backer, of Kincaid, Ill.; Andy Wodziak, end, of Chicago and Eliot.

Says Rules Make For Bigger Scores

Former Notre Dame Lineman Claims Too Tough on Defense

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(AP) — Adam had 'em—touchdowns, that is, and when you hear of a pair of football teams piling up more than 100 points, you begin asking how come . . . Here are a few answers from Bowdoin's Adam Walsh, who says the spectators enjoyed that 60-42 scoring race against Colby . . . "The rule that allowed forward passing anywhere behind the line started it," says the old Notre Dame "Mule" . . . "Just think of the additional pressure that was placed on the defense by such plays as: the fake buck-lateral ending in a pass. The extra-fast jump pass from the T. The fake end run and pass now thrown from any distance behind the line, etc. etc. . . . Along comes the rule allowing a substitute to communicate immediately and this added a bit more impetus . . . a more liberal substitution rule was exploited and the two platoons soon followed." . . . Changes in timing methods, Adam adds, increased the number of plays per game. But a still more important factor, he declared, is this: "even with teams which do not employ the two-platoon system, rarely do you see the offensive play-caller playing on defense. He is on the sidelines preparing and being prepared, for the next attack.

"We were scored upon in one game this year with but two seconds remaining in the first half. We scored in another with but three seconds to play in the half. It is doubtful that either of these scores would have been made without several of the above opportunities contributing . . . I am all for progression and improvement, and if that means high scoring games, it is all right with me . . . we won't always win, but they can't rule us off for trying."

When Notre Dame scored five touchdowns in eight minutes against Indiana, Quarterback John Mazur would retire to the bench after each score and start talking on the phone to spotter Bernie Crimmins . . . Each time he'd call back in a few seconds as Indiana gave up the ball . . . As he put down the phone, Johnny said "I'll bet you a milk shake we score this time." . . . After winning his third "milk", Johnny came back for more conversation and the same thing happened again . . . "I'll bet . . . " he started. Crimmins interrupted: "keep on getting them and I'll buy you a whole drug store."

The Fort Jackson, S. C., football team, was penalized only 50 yards in three "away" games this season but collected 503 yards in five home games. Hardly the perfect hosts . . . Clyde Lamb, Ohio Northern coach, invites squads of his players to his home for fried chicken dinners . . . "my wife and son love it," says Clyde, "but I wish I could figure out some way to get an income tax deduction for those meals."

Kid Gavilan Choice Over Tony Janiro

DETROIT, Nov. 7—(AP)—Kid Gavilan, the welterweight champion with the bolo punch, ranked as a 7 to 5 favorite to defeat middleweight contender Tony Janiro in a 10-round non-title fight here tonight.

Boxing fans across the nation can get the start of the fight at 10 p.m., EST, on radio and television, but if the fight goes the limit they won't see the finish.

The broadcasts will be cut off the air at 10:30 when President Truman begins a speech from Washington that will be carried on all networks.

Janiro, who lost a split decision to Gavilan last December in Cleveland, was expected to enter the ring at 163 pounds, about three or four pounds heavier than Gavilan.

Snead Favored At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 7—(AP)—Sam Snead, a hard man to handle on any golf course, and particularly on the No. 2 championship layout of the Pinehurst Country Club, was in his familiar role as the man to beat today as the 49th North and South open golf tournament's first round got under way.

Snead, who registers from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., has won this tournament the past two years and three times in all. On four occasions he's been second.

Snead was paired with one of the few players given a chance to upset the calculations in the opening round, drawing Max Faulkner, British Open champion, whom he subdued in a Ryder Cup match here three days ago.

The field was loaded with international talent. The entire British Ryder Cup team was on hand. In addition to Snead, Clayton Heafner, Skip Alexander, Ed Oliver and Henry Ransom of the victorious American squad were around.

Sandusky, Elm Valley Coming Up

Prexies, Irish Geared For Tough Opponents

Harding and St. Mary coaches listed their gridiron gangs in fairly good condition today for Friday night opponents who may be the toughest on their schedule.

The Presidents travel to Sandusky to meet the 13th ranking Blue Streaks while the Fighting Irish remain at home for a game with Elm Valley, Middle Buckeye League champs.

It will be the windup for St. Mary. Harding will end its season against Fremont Ross, in a game that will decide the Buckeye League title, the following Friday.

Few Colds

Coach Pete Howison reports his Prexies suffered a few colds in the 7-6 victory over Columbus South in the deep snow last Friday, but are expected to be fully recovered by game time. Halfback Jim Chapman is bothered by a sore back and Lineman Tats Taylor by a leg injury, but otherwise the squad is ready to go. Tom McClain, who played on offense only last week because of a shoulder hurt, seems to have recovered.

Howison put his crew through a tough scrimmage session Monday night and reported a satisfactory showing.

Coach Ray Robbins of St. Mary is worried about three of his players, "Butch" Merchant, Mike Anderson, and Larry Ryan. All were bruised in the victory over Mansfield Madison. Merchant was taken to the hospital with a head injury, but released this week. Anderson is bothered by a sore shoulder and Ryan by a bruised knee.

Illinois End, Tennessee Tackle Cited

Smith, Pearman Linemen of Week In News Service Poll

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(AP)—Rex Smith, Illinois end, and Bill "Pug" Pearman, Tennessee tackle, were selected today as the linemen of the week in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Smith caught the forward pass that brought the Illini a 7 to 0 victory over Michigan in the last 70 seconds of their crucial Big Ten game at Champaign, Ill. That earned him the nod as the offensive lineman.

The work of Pearman against North Carolina made him tops among the defensive boys. Those who saw the game at Chapel Hill, N. C., lauded Pearman's key tackles that stopped the Tar Heels in their tracks and was a major factor in Tennessee's 27-0 victory.

Ollie Matson, of San Francisco University, and Keith Flowers, of Texas Christian, were named yesterday as the backs of the week for their sterling performances against Santa Clara and Baylor, respectively.

Matson currently has amassed 1,279 yards in rushing to lead Johnny Bright of Drake, his nearest competitor, by 352 yards. According to NCAA service bureau statistics, Bright, however, leads the nation in total offense with 1,553 yards for eight games. Rossi of Cincinnati is seventh with 1,170 yards.

In forward passes, Dan Babers, Oklahoma A & M quarterback, is tops with 105 completions in 203 attempts for 1,164 yards, and a 51.7 percentage. Rossie of Cincinnati is ninth with 70 completions in 139 attempts for a 50.4 percentage and 1,169 yards.

It has never rained in the 26 years that "Singing on the Mountain" has been held on the fourth Sunday in June near Grandfather Mountain, N. C. Up to 40,000 people attend the event.

Vote Volstead's County Wet

GRANITE FALLS, Minn., Nov 7—(AP)—Municipal liquor store forces won out in the home county of the late Rep Andrew Volstead, who wrote the Volstead prohibition enforcement act.

Complete unofficial returns from Monday's election in Yellow Medicine County gave a 2,731 to 2,041 victory to a proposal permitting villages and cities to establish municipal liquor stores if they desire. Each community must separately approve the proposal before stores can be opened.

A brisk campaign preceded the voting. It was marked by full-page advertisements in newspapers and by public meetings.

The Volstead Act provided for enforcement of the 18th Amendment which banned sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes throughout the nation. The amendment was repealed in 1933.

Feature Styling Refinements

New Dodge Models On Display Saturday

The 1952 model Dodge cars will go on display Saturday at Ardrey Motor Sales Inc., at 646 N. Main St., Marion's Dodge dealer.

A complete line of 1952 models will be displayed here, the company reported today.

The new models have styling refinements inside and out and, as an optional feature, Dodge tint safety glass windows and windshields. W. C. Newberg, president of Dodge, predicted that this feature, which gives a slight greenish tint to the glass, will be in strong demand from motorists because it makes daylight driving easier on the driver's eyes, reduces interior heat on warm days and enhances the appearance of the car.

Exterior Changes

Exterior changes include modifications in the design of the front grille, new wheel covers and hub caps, a new tail light assembly and modified rear fender trim.

Interiors of the new models are lighter and brighter and feature new textured weave upholstery fabrics with modern designs. The fabrics in Coronet models are made of combinations of rayon and cotton for greater durability and convenience.

Newberg announced that all models in the 1952 line will be available with Gyro-Matic transmission. All models will have waterproofed ignition systems, electric windshield wipers and Oriflow shock absorbers.

Newberg said Dodge will use available steel and other materials, under government defense limitations, to build the body types which are in greatest demand and is discontinuing two models, the Wayfarer Sportabout and the Coronet 8-passenger sedan.

Eight Models

The eight models which make up the 1952 Dodge line are the Coronet four-door sedan, Diplomat, Sierra, convertible coupe and club coupe, the Meadowbrook four-door sedan and the Wayfarer two-door sedan and business coupe. The Diplomat is a convertible-styled, six-passenger car with a permanent steel top. The Sierra is similar in appearance to a station wagon, but it has an all-steel body.

A new service policy adopted recently enable owners traveling away from home in new cars to obtain 1,000-mile and 3,000-mile inspections from any Dodge dealer. Previously, the owner was entitled to the free inspections only from the selling dealer.

Talks With Europeans On Arms Aid Seen

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—(AP)—New conferences by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Europe and some inventory-taking by each of the western European nations will be needed before the U. S. is ready to translate its broad assurance of a speed-up in arms aid into specific promises on tonnages and percentages.

In his Washington talks with White House, military and defense production officials, informed sources said today, Eisenhower was assured that the flow of arms to the western European forces would be increased.

But he also was reported to have been told that he should hold an early meeting with W. Averell Harriman, head of the Mutual Security Agency, who left Washington for Paris last week. Moreover, it was noted that Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann planned to start for Europe today to talk with defense chiefs of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations in Paris and London.

From the findings by Harriman and the reports by Eisenhower, pieces of the problem can be fitted together—how much each NATO member has now in way of military equipment, how much it can produce and how fast. Only then can the U. S. be in a position to make specific promises on tonnages and delivery timetables to help get up to 30 divisions fully armed as quickly as possible.

Draft-Ike Movement In High Gear

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—(AP)—The draft-Eisenhower movement shifted into high gear today on the strength of the general's hands-off attitude toward volunteer political efforts in his behalf.

Sideline politicians disagreed on the over-all effect of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's avoidance of party and presidential race commitments while waving a friendly go-ahead to well-wishers who are trying to stake down for him the 1952 Republican nomination.

But Senator Duff (R-Pa), one of the leaders of the latter group, plunged with renewed vigor into a round of Texas speeches and conferences plugging the general. In New York, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said he was stronger than ever for Eisenhower, if that was possible.

The five-star general's parting shots before his return to Paris convinced Senator Murray (D-Mont) that Eisenhower is going to make himself available for a nomination contest.

"It looks like he is a candidate," Murray told a reporter.

Cast in the play are Ron Craycraft, Ann Schindler, Mary Atha, Freda Griffith, Mary Alice Neal, Dallas Campbell, Gene Merrow, Reva Shifflet, Huston Ackley, Maeola Arnold, and Jim Parker.

Minor characters are played by Louise Gregory, Don Loudenslager, Gene Garver, Wallace Linn, Evelyn Ledley and Dick Wilson.

The play is directed by Mrs. Annabelle Russel, commercial and English teacher.

Tickets can be purchased at the school office or from a member of the Senior Class. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for students.

Armistice Day Parade Plans Are Completed

Plans for an Armistice Day observance to be held in Marion Saturday were completed when members of the committee arranging the affair met Tuesday night in the Veterans Memorial Home.

Activities of the day will include a short service at 11 o'clock a.m. in front of the honor roll at the courthouse, during which soldiers of all wars will be honored. The County Council, American Legion, is in charge. A parade in the evening through downtown Marion will climax the day's events.

The parade, scheduled to form at 7:45, will move at 8 p.m. Starting at Olney Ave., the line of march will be east on Center St. to State St., south on State St. to Church St., and west on Church St. to Pearl St., where it will disband.

Making up the parade will be four divisions, with all city officials, veteran and civic organizations and five bands taking part.

Grand marshal for the parade is D. J. MacDonald, deputy grand marshal will be Victor Wick, and chief of staff will be R. E. Copeland.

Reports of the various committee chairmen planning the parade were heard at the meeting. John Dean, chairman of the transportation committee, announced that any veterans needing transportation for the parade should notify him by noon on Saturday. He can be reached at 2-6916 during the day and at 2-0615 in the evening.

Says Russia Will Crush Any Attack

Stalin Aide Speaks On Anniversary Of Red Revolution

MOSCOW, Nov. 7—(AP)—Lavrenty P. Beria, one of Russia's top politburo members, warned the western world last night that the soviets would crush any attack on them and that they had the weapons with which to do it.

Beria made the important keynote speech at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater on the eve of the 34th anniversary of the Red revolution. All Russia today started a two-day holiday celebration, the highlight of which was a massive military and workers' parade through Red Square this morning.

"As the world knows," Beria declared, "the Soviet army and navy possess unparalleled moral fighting qualities and have at their disposal all types of contemporary weapons."

If an attack is made on Russia, said Beria, the Soviet people will be able to meet such a thrust in a way which will put an end forever to invasions of the U.S.S.R.

He claimed Russian technicians have captured first place in the world of science and "recently solved a series of most important scientific problems of economic and defensive significance."

Beria also gave a summary of Soviet economic progress during this year, including statistical figures. This report was considered by western diplomats here to be one of the most important statements this year.

Beria painted a picture of growing economic might and power in the Soviet Union. He promised the Soviet people more food and clothing and announced the government is planning mass production of such durable consumer goods as television sets, washing machines and electric refrigerators.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Indiscriminate Use of Thyroid

Drugs powerful enough to be useful must always be administered with care. This is particularly true of such things as thyroid extract. Now and then, severe disturbances may result from the indiscriminate use of thyroid extract in persons having only a slightly-decreased metabolism.

Many patients who are given thyroid often gain the impression that their thyroid is not working well. Unless it is discussed previously with the patient, and the situation is fairly and adequately explained, a person may feel obligated and eager to take thyroid for the rest of his life.

When there is no real indication of decreased thyroid activity or decreased metabolism, thyroid drugs should only be given on a trial basis, and this trial basis should be adequately explained to the patient.

Adolescents sometimes are treated with thyroid extract without real evidence that the gland is not functioning well. An example of this is the fat boy who does not exhibit sufficient physical and emotional maturity, or the obese girl who has a delayed onset of her menstrual periods.

Oftentimes, there may be a psychological or constitutional factor preventing the normal maturity of these patients. Very often these imbalances are self-corrected if given enough time.

Too often young women, before marriage, are given thyroid because of a tired, rundown feeling. In some cases, young women display what appears to be a decreased metabolism, but which is actually just simple boredom.

Frustration and maladjustment, as well as various other causes, including the suggestion gained from friends who supposedly have been helped so much by thyroid, may cause an apparent decreased metabolism. Women with obesity are given thyroid too often instead of a strict diet and adequate psychological treatment.

It is important, therefore, that thyroid should not be given or taken indiscriminately, for it may induce some type of addiction to the drug.

Questions and Answers

H. J. R.: I am suffering from cirrhosis of the liver. My doctor tells me that I also have what is known as varicose veins of the esophagus. I have hemorrhaged from the mouth one time. Is there any cure for this condition?

Answer: No definite cure has been found for this condition. Some fair results have been obtained by the performance of an operation known as a splenectomy (removal of the spleen). Certain new but difficult operations also have been devised for this condition.

Wishful Willies

GEN. EISENHOWER, a man who likes a joke, has turned the laugh on a number of his friends who had been taking themselves too seriously.

It will be a long time before any more politicians on the home scene claim to be speaking for Eisenhower now that he has declared that the ones doing it so far have been talking through their hats.

A horrible possibility suddenly has loomed ahead of these wishful willies who have been using the general's name to promote their own ambitions. Just four years ago the same thing happened. A group of politicians who wanted to get rid of Harry Truman as leader of the Democratic party began to boom Dwight Eisenhower for president.

They were still booming when the Democratic convention assembled in 1948—but Eisenhower left them high and dry. When Mr. Truman nabbed the nomination and then went on to win the election, the Eisenhower boomers had their peace to make with Mr. Truman.

It could happen that in 1952 a few careless Republicans might make the same mistake in regard to Dwight Eisenhower. They might be left high and dry by booming a presidential candidacy that never materialized.

No Appetite for War

DIFFICULT as it has become to bring Korea into a sharp focus since cease-fire talks began, one fact has remained unchanged since the North Koreans started the war.

There could have been an end of the fighting on Communist terms long before this. The fighting would have ended soon after it began if the United States had been willing to knuckle under. An account of the momentous decision to prove to the Reds that this country would not run away is published in the current Saturday Evening Post.

Certainly the fighting in Korea could have been halted on Communist terms last winter, if the United States and its dozen token allies had been willing to leave the peninsula. And it could have been called off a dozen times last August by the simple expedient of giving the Red negotiators what they were demanding.

The question posed by the Communists never has been concealed or subtle. It is whether or not the United States and its allies are so sick of war they will give the Communist conspiracy what it wants. The answer is still no.

Leon Jouhaux of France

AWARD of the Nobel Peace Prize to a French labor leader, Leon Jouhaux, should not be a surprise to Americans, but it is. In this country, where workers have reached the world's highest standards of living, it still is not the usual thing for labor leaders to behave like statesmen.

Jouhaux's great fight has been to keep French unions free from the taint of Communist influence. That is a great fight in the United States, too, but only a handful of union officials have been in the thick of it long enough to earn distinction for themselves. For years, many of the officials strung along with the Communists because they were more interested in building up membership than in building up integrity.

One of these officials, John L. Lewis, used Communist agitators to build up membership in the Congress of Industrial Organizations when he decided to split the labor movement in the United States.

Tax Resistance

RECENT oddities in the news include a woman in California doing a Lady Godiva to protest high taxes and some citizens of Berlin riding camels to dramatize what taxes may do to auto owners in Germany. The process of stirring up a tax revolt is hard and sometimes ridiculous.

But tax resistance is an obligation of citizenship—not resistance to the collection of a tax that is due but resistance to the relentless pressure to add new taxes and increase old ones unnecessarily. Tax-spenders have an insatiable appetite. It must be satisfied only to the extent of paying for the necessary expenses of government. But it must never be indulged.

That is the way to financial ruin and loss of liberty. It is the way that has been taken by every government which finally betrayed the public trust. The power to tax is the power to destroy. The fact that the federal power to tax is not being curbed in the United States is the most frightening of all dangers—more frightening than any external danger.

Americans do not know how to resist federal taxation. They have learned how to curb spenders at local and state levels but are helpless to restrain them at the federal levels. A procession of Lady Godivas and camel-riders to Washington is out of the question, but it is a thought, for the days ahead—something that might impress on federal office-seekers in 1952 that the limit for federal taxation has been reached and passed.

The U.N. and Russia

By David Lawrence

And Still They Talk of "Negotiations"

WASHINGTON

ANOTHER meeting of the United Nations Assembly is under way and again the talk is about "negotiating" with the Russians.

Plans and counter-plans of an all-embracing nature related to the propaganda battle between the East and West are the main subjects of the press dispatches. Yet not a single move has been made to declare Soviet Russia the aggressor and to hold the Moscow regime responsible before all the world for the mischief her agents are causing in Asia and the Middle East as well as in Europe.

LAWRENCE

The United Nations received a tremendous buildup in prestige in the United States when it was established in 1945, but it has declined in the esteem of many who looked forward so hopefully to this international organization as an instrument of moral rather than physical force.

As a means of enforcing peace by military means, the U.N. has already revealed its limitations, for it has become necessary to organize regional groups such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a Pacific organization for defense purposes. The resistance to aggression in Korea was, of course, originally a U.N. undertaking, but it is now solely a military operation confined to 12 governments which have sent troops there in an inter-Allied adventure. The peace negotiations there and all the military measures taken are no longer referred to the U.N., even though General Ridgway holds the title of U.N. Commander-in-Chief.

ON THE SIDE of moral force, the U.N. has proved to be even a bigger disappointment. Although everybody knows that Russia is supplying arms and ammunition to the Chinese and North Korean Communist armies and is thus aiding the aggressor in disregard of the obligations of members of the U.N., the Assembly has not ventured to brand Soviet Russia as an aggressor.

Nor has the Assembly heretofore taken cognizance of the many acts which Soviet Russia has committed since 1945 to impair the sovereignty of smaller nations.

On the whole, the U.N. has seemed to lack courage and moral force. Soviet Russia has utilized the U.N. tribunals for propaganda alleging peaceful intent, but the Western nations have confined their propaganda to a continuous series of proposals addressed to a government that has been faithless to its written pledges.

It is significant that, even as the press of the world comments on the forthcoming proposals from the United States, Britain and France with respect to control of armament, hardly any responsible source—either in the unofficial comments of the government or the press—places any trust in the word of the Communists.

NOT LONG AGO the President of the United States said publicly that the pledges and promises of Soviet Russia were not worth the paper they were written on. Yet this week the world is being offered more and more proposals from the Western Powers which presumably would not be given weight even if the Russians accepted them in writing.

The truth is confidence in the Moscow government has disappeared altogether and yet the United Nations, which is in a position to brand Soviet Russia as an aggressor and to tell the real story of the Kremlin's threats to world peace, has never taken the obvious step that many people throughout the world have long thought to be overdue.

When the U.N. gathers courage to call a spade a spade, freedom-loving individuals behind the iron curtain will start to get the truth and will begin to manifest the same courage of resistance which patriots showed to the underground movements against Nazi rule during the last war. One wonders why the U.N. is so silent on the biggest moral issue in the world today—denunciation formally of Soviet aggression.

Without Illusions

By TRUMAN TWILL

AN OPINION roundup by Time Magazine shows what the younger generation is thinking and doing. The roundup will stick pins into a lot of hitherto unpunctured ideas.

Such as the idea that mothers and fathers have an inalienable right to carp at their kids as if the old folks, themselves, were not responsible for the things the kids think, do and say. It never was more painfully plain than it is now that mothers and fathers left their mark on the generation now becoming responsible.

These are the children born from 1923 to 1933, the "era of incredible nonsense" — the dizzy decade when "flaming youth" burned itself into a cinder of despair—the age of the flapper and the hip flask. Fill in your own specifications, but remember this:

When the decade was over, the American people were disenchanted. Millions of them were so peeved because their bubbles had burst that they spent years crying in their tap water, which was all they could afford.

They told their children as the young ones began to learn the score never to let anyone tell them again there was a blue fairy. They hammered on the lack of integrity among foreigners, with the exception of the Finns, who paid their debts. They mouthed the myths which had been concocted by the political smear artists of politics, including the one made possible when the apple industry hit upon the stunt of selling its product direct to consumers. And they vowed "never again." It was as if the nation were doing remorseful penance for one of the longest and loudest binges in history.

If the youngsters born during the binge who received their first impressions of this vale of tears during the hangover had escaped a sense of shame for their own parents, it would have been a miracle. As the younger generation pieced together the story of the binge and the headache, the great mistake the oldsters made was to have believed so many things that weren't so. That is why, as Time Magazine has discovered in its roundup, the younger generation today is without illusions. These boys and girls want everything on the line. They have come to grips with reality.

That is not good, because men live by illusions. It is tragic to be deprived of them too early—as tragic as it is to be deprived of them too suddenly. There must be, always, between human beings and what they conceive of as reality a cushion to keep reality from shattering their morale when the going gets rough.

That was what happened at the close of the era of wonderful nonsense. There was a sudden removal of the buffer of wonderful nonsense which had made millions of Americans believe there really had been a war to end wars and that henceforth there would be pie in the sky, with free roses for the ladies and lollipops for the kiddies. The older generation then should have known better than to let us moppets believe that stuff. At least we haven't done any worse by our own moppets than was done by us, hotcha, hotcha, oh our aching heads!

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

After construction of the Columbus & Sandusky Turnpike in 1828, many of the early settlers of Scott Township hauled their wheat and other grain to Sandusky City. It usually required a week to make the trip and the farmers made the most out of these trips by bringing loads of goods on their return to the merchants of Bucyrus and Marion. At Sandusky City they also secured much of their flour and meal as there were no mills nearer than Bucyrus, Mt. Gilead and Mt. Vernon until 1834.

Some Thoughts on High Taxes

By George E. Sokolsky

ADAM SMITH, in discussing taxes on property, wrote:

"While property remains in the possession of the same person, whatever permanent taxes may have been imposed upon it, they have never been intended to diminish or take away any part of its capital value, but only some part of the revenue arising from it . . ."

The original idea of the income tax was not to deprive citizens of their savings nor to diminish their possessions but to raise revenue for the use of the government. The new taxes imposed by the inequitably taxed President are actually reducing the possibility of savings and therefore of coming into possession of property. The present taxes involve not only a redistribution of earned wealth but a confiscation of earnings.

SOKOLSKY

Karl Marx aimed to abolish love of country so that the world revolution would come more quickly. Whereas in the United States the theory of life was that there would be a constant improvement, so that workers would own their own homes, buy their own insurance policies, even go into business for themselves, Karl Marx really hoped for increased poverty so that the proletariat would be more numerous.

* * *

IN AMERICA, the aim was to increase the middle class; Marx sought to abolish the middle class.

Harold Laski put these ideas in this language:

". . . If Communists are charged with seeking to abolish love of country, the 'Manifesto' answers that the workers can have no country until they are emancipated from bourgeois domination; with their acquisition of political power, the hostility between nations will disappear. So, also, it will change traditional ideas in religion and philosophy. Since it puts experience on a new basis, it will change the ideas which are their expression."

In a word, Communists seek, in every respect, to abolish our world as we have known it for at least 5,000 years.

Among the measures which Marx advocated for accomplishment of the revolution were these (the numbers are his; there were altogether 10):

"1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes.

"2. A heavy progressive or graduated income tax.

"3. Abolition of all right of inheritance.

"5. Centralization of credit in the hands of the state, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly.

"6. Centralization of the means of communication and transport in the hands of the state."

(It will be noted that since 1848, when this list was published, many so-called capitalist countries have accepted Marx's program).

THE INCOME TAX is high on the list. The graduated income tax can reduce the individual to a constantly lowering standard of living. It can prevent savings by leaving nothing over after living expenses. The tax guarantees poverty.

When to the income tax is added to complex system of excises and hidden taxes, it is possible for government to arrange for an economy which permits the appearances of high wages and even high prices while all the time the standard of life is being depreciated and the middle class is being squeezed out of existence.

In this country, we are now observing precisely this process, particularly as it affects the white collar and professional classes. For them, very little hope of self-improvement is left. Their doom is to find rated jobs in government, jobs which pay little, permit of no initiative, require featherbedding to survive and end in a low standard retirement pension. If that is pie in the sky, it certainly is not of the American dream.

IF WE COMPLAIN that too many Americans are on the government payroll, we are in error. For if we permit our white collar and cultural classes to be taxed out of opportunity for self-improvement, they must take government jobs as no others are available to them. In the past, such Americans made their own opportunities out of their ingenuity, their ability to save or to borrow from their neighbors. They were not inhibited by government through taxes.

In a word, the revolution which the New Deal under Harry Hopkins introduced and the Fair Deal under Leon Keyserling seeks to complete is being accomplished with even greater skill than Lenin exhibited in Russia. The Bolsheviks employed terror and murder and confiscation as weapons.

The American revolution is being accomplished by means of taxes, principally the income tax, by premeditated wasteful expenditure of the people's money, and by depreciating the currency. And the revolutionists can truthfully say that it is done with our consent. We authorized the revolution by our votes.

New Army Career for Women

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

THERE'S a new career for women in the U. S. Army. Uncle Sam wants social work officers—who are commissioned in the Medical Service Corps—to work in Army hospitals and clinics both in this country and abroad.

Men officers, of course, are also being recruited, and so are civilian workers with civil service ratings, said Lt. Col. Leslie B. Stark, chief of the Social Services Branch of the surgeon general's office.

"The role of the social work officer has always been important," Col. Stark explains, "but today it assumes even greater importance in view of the stresses arising from both combat and rapid military expansion.

"The Social Services Branch, incidentally, is one of the first technical divisions of the Army to bring in women as commissioned officers on the same footing as myself or any other male officer. The chief of the medical Social Work Section is a woman," he pointed out. She is Maj. Barbara Hodges, an attractive brunette who received her appointment in July.

About 20 women, mostly second lieutenants, are already members of the corps, and several are members of the branch's equally important Psychiatric Social Work Section. All women social workers wear the same taupe uniforms, designed by Hattie Carnegie, that you see on WAC's, Army nurses and Army Medical Specialist Corps officers.

Their big job is to assist ill or convalescing service personnel with their emotional and social problems. They are taking over the personnel case work formerly handled by the Red Cross in military hospitals and clinics. The Army minimum requirement is a master's degree in social work from an accredited school.

"The field offers a very rewarding area of practice, an unusually wide variety of assignments and participation in a program making an important contribution to the defense of a free world," Maj. Hodges said. Pay starts at $3,789 per year for a second lieutenant.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

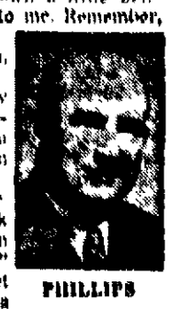
Entitled "No Bet"

"Hello, Joe."

"Don't hello Joe me, Charlie. We can both be mistaken."

"Aw relax. I wanna get down a little bet."

"Don't use that word 'bet' to me. Remember, we are in the city limits!"



PHILLIPS

"I'm keepin' my voice down, Joe."

"For the first time in my life whisperin' makes me nervous. Scram! I never saw you before. That's official, just in case of dictaphones."

"Look, Joe, be reasonable. I got a bum I like. He's a rank outsider. Take five for me on the nose, nice and quiet like."

"Nothin' doin', nice and quiet or rough and loud. You wanna get me in Alcatraz?"

* * *

"Aincha registered?"

"That's no registration. It's a signed confession, a plea of guilt without recommendation for leniency and a farewell to wife and family. It don't even get me time off for good behavior."

"Register just the same and pay the ten per cent to Mister Whiskers. Take it out of my five bucks."

"So you wanna be an accomplice!"

"Take a bet on this skinner for me and I'll even be your personal bodyguard, spy and character witness, Joe."

"Get this. I'm through with the horses. When a bookie has to keep books, records and a personal diary open to the public, the police and government agents, I ain't even taking bets on cowboy ponies to show up in the westerns."

"But this skinner is in the fifth at Jamaica and . . ."

"Jamaica! I never heard of it. And what country is Belmont in? Go away, Charlie, we're being watched."

* * *

"We're only talking."

"But even the birds got wings."

"What price you quote on a bird to finish in the money?"

* * *

"Shush! Don't look now, but your tipsheet is showing."

"That ain't no tipsheet; it's a railroad time table."

"If you and I are caught talkin' horses you had better look up a train for Leavenworth. Bug out, Charlie! I didn't even go to the horse show for fear I'd be identified with the ponies."

"Listen, Joe, just this once! . . . I been doin' biz with you for years and never collectin'. . . . Take this one last bet like a good registered lawbreaker, woncha?"

"Stop! You're breakin' my heart."

"Yeah! What odds you givin' on it?"

Veterans and Draftees Guide

—By—
Major Thomas M. Nial

Pensions have been increased for only one category of disabled veterans, those who are so helpless or blind "as to need or require the regular aid and attendance of another person."

If you meet this additional requirement, apply to the VA to have your pension increased to $120 a month. But every would-be pensioner must meet the OTHER requirements, the same now as before Congress passed the pension increase over the President's veto.

To rate a pension, you must meet five big conditions:

1. Be a veteran of war service, not just peacetime service.

For this purpose, World War I lasted from April 6, 1917, to Nov. 11, 1918 (or to April 1, 1920, for those who served in Russia). World War II lasted from Dec. 7, 1941, until noon, Dec. 31, 1946. The Korean war started June 27, 1950, and isn't over yet.

2. Have served at least 90 days, some part of it during a war period, or have a disability discharge if you served less than 90 days.

3. Have been discharged "under conditions other than dishonorable."

A vet with a Bad Conduct Discharge, for example, might still rate a pension if the "conditions" under which he was released were not actually dishonorable. The VA decides this.

4. Be permanently and totally disabled from NON-service-connected causes.

The VA defines a permanent total disability as "any impairment of mind or body which is sufficient to render it impossible for the average person to follow a substantially gainful occupation and where it is reasonable certain that such impairment will continue throughout the life of the disabled veteran."

Note that total disability does NOT necessarily mean a VA disability rating of 100 percent. It means, generally, that you are unemployable. Note also that the disability must be permanent. A vet who breaks his back or leg does NOT rate a pension unless it's reasonably certain that he'll be totally disabled for life.

5. Not have an annual income more than $1,000 if you're single, or more than $2,500 if you're married or have minor children.

Any other benefit payment from the VA itself, like NSLI dividends, does NOT count as income for this purpose. But almost all other income is counted, including Social Security payments. A minor child is any child under 18, or under 21 if attending a VA-approved school or college.

MEET THOSE conditions and you rate a pension of $60 a month. When you've drawn the pension for 10 years—or if you reach age 65 before 10 years are up—then your pension is raised to $72 a month.

Meet the one additional condition of being so helpless or blind that you need regular aid and attendance and you qualify for $120 a month.

If you're not drawing a pension now and think you rate one, get help and advice on how to apply from the nearest VA contact office, your local Red Cross Chapter or one of the veterans' organizations.

Those now drawing $60 or $72 who believe they rate $120 must apply for the increase in writing. Write the VA office which sends out your pension checks, explain the circumstances of your case and back up your claim with other evidence, like a statement from your family doctor.

Who may that other person be who gives you regular aid and attendance? "Anybody," says the VA, even your wife. But unless you really and truly REQUIRE aid and attendance, you can't just have your wife start caring for you and expect to draw the full $120.

The increase when approved is retroactive to the date you apply for it. But those who applied before Nov. 1, 1951, draw it only from Nov. 1.

ROSARY VINE

Rosary Vine is an adorable little house plant that's easier to grow than philodendron. The beads of the "rosary" are small round tubers which form at nodes along the pendulous stems. These "rosary beads" will root if allowed to touch damp soil.

The tiny inch long flowers of the rosary vine are fascinating in their complicated construction although they're inconspicuous in color. You'll get a thrill when you unexpectedly see them. Some people think they resemble little lighted candles.

Look closely and see whether you think the flowers are similar to those of rosary vine relatives, milkweed and wax-plant.

For all of its daintiness the rosary vine is extra durable. It's a succulent whose original home was Natal, South Africa. Its thick leaves and potato-like roots store water against emergencies.

Your rosary vine will be happy in either a sunny or shady window. Be sure to pot your rosary vine in a porous soil that will drain rapidly.

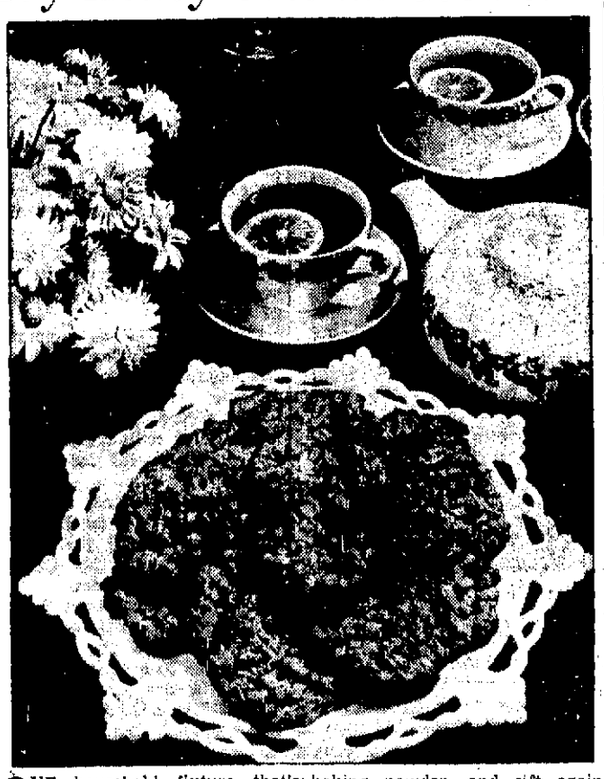
Try Honey Coconut Cookies



ONE household fixture that's guaranteed never to be out of date is the cookie jar, and a custom that's destined to be in fashion as long as cookie jars exist is that midafternoon snack. There's only one problem—how to keep that cookie jar full, because with a batch of something like these honey coconut cookies, it develops the chronic habit of being empty. They'll add gaiety to the custom and laurels to your cooking skill.

HONEY COCONUT COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
½ t double-acting baking powder
1 t soda
1 t hot water
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ cup granulated sugar
½ cup honey
1 egg, unbeaten
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup shredded coconut
2 cups candy-coated rice cereal

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift again. Dissolve soda in water. Cream shortening, add sugars and honey gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add part of flour, then add dissolved soda and blend. Add remaining flour, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add rolled oats, coconut, and rice cereal and mix thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) 12 minutes, or until done. Cookies will become crisp when cold. Makes six to eight dozen.

here are the FACTS about DOG FOOD
Confused about what to feed your dog?
Wondering how much to pay?

Many claims and counterclaims are directed at dog owners today. The makers of Rival Dog Food want to discuss these claims frankly with millions of present and future Rival users.
"HOW MUCH SHALL I PAY?" You see dog foods priced lower than Rival. You see many priced higher. If you pay less, ask yourself: "Is this true economy? Will I be gambling with my dog's health—will I be forced to supplement his diet, resulting in a higher cost per feeding, with a waste of time and effort?"
If you pay more—are you really giving your dog more in those food elements which insure his health? The answer is simple: Rival supplies—in its balanced formula—every element needed by your dog for perfect health! Every one of the 679,416,552 cans of Rival already sold proves that a quality dog food need not be expensive!
ALL-MEAT—OR BALANCED BLEND? Make no mistake—Rival contains plenty of meat. But Rival's meat content has been enhanced in feeding effectiveness by choice grains, rich in body-building, energy-maintaining food elements, precious natural vitamins and minerals. It simply is not necessary to add a single thing to a dog's diet if he is fed Rival. Yes, Rival alone will keep him in tip-top condition!
Rival blends meat and other ingredients under strict laboratory control; conducts scientific feeding tests in its own kennels. The makers of Rival devote all their time, facilities and resources to the canning of Rival Dog Food, with the single purpose of feeding your dog correctly!
RIVAL IS THE ANSWER—So—before you pay less—or more—than Rival's sensible price—before you consider any other dog food—canned or otherwise—ask yourself whether you can do better than follow the example of the millions who use Rival—and know its value!
